River Pirates Beat Lookouts 13-2

Softball "Game of the Century" a good time for all

August 4, 2006 – The rematch a century in the making went off without a hitch on Friday, August 4, 2006 when the Maritime Exchange River Pirates took on the Lookouts from the Maritime Association of the Port of New York/New Jersey (MAPONY) in a friendly game of softball. The game was held 100 years to the day after the first game between the two organizations, when NY beat Philadelphia 1-0. This time, the outcome was a little different, with a Delaware River triumph and a 13-2 score. "The Maritime Exchange River Pirates did us proud on the ball field in Princeton . . . great teamwork, hard work and a lot of enthusiasm. Along with the Lookouts, we had a great day," said Exchange President Dennis Rochford. A big thank you goes to all who participated -- and we especially appreciate the efforts of Paul Rand of New Start Shipping for leading us to victory as the River Pirates team captain. The Exchange also extends its thanks to Ed Kelly, Executive Director of MAPONY, and his crew for making the event one of friendly rivalry and camaraderie. We had so much fun we may do it again next year!
